Four Restaurateurs

Four Long Island restaurateurs will be on the panel at the next “Out of the Question” discussion at the Southampton Arts Center, hosted by Warren Strugatch next Thursday at 7 p.m. Eric Lemonides, a co-owner of the Almond restaurants in Bridgehampton and Manhattan; Mark Smith, a partner in Nick and Toni’s, La Fondita, and Rowdy Hall; David Loewenberg, an owner of Bell and Anchor, the Beacon, and Fresno, and Guy Reuge, the chef and founder of Mirabelle, Mirabelle Tavern, and Le Vin, will discuss “what’s hot and what’s up-and-coming in the food and restaurant world.” After the discussion, there will be a chance to meet and mingle during a reception, at which small bites and desserts from the participants’ restaurants will be served. Tickets are $15.
