Dinner for Two on Valentine's Day 2018

GOOD EATS | anna halkidis | JANUARY 31, 2018

Cliché or not, Valentine's Day dinner hasn't lost its popularity. Several Long Island restaurants are adding to the appeal by offering delicious menus in their cozy settings. Make reservations, grab your significant other and head to any of these spots to kick romance up a notch.

Sandbar, Cold Spring Harbor

A gorgeous airy space with high ceilings, wooden tables and trendy light fixtures, Sandbar is a great way to impress your Valentine. And the menu—crafted by beloved executive chef Guy Reuge—is an even bigger draw. The special Valentine's Day menu features appetizers like tomato braised octopus, duck tacos, chickpea fries and foie gras. Follow that with one of seven entrees like the pan-seared branzino, butter poached filet mignon or the Long Island duck duo. Desserts include chocolate mousse cake, olive oil cake, sorbet trio or cinnamon sugar ricotta donuts. Unlike the others on the list, there's no fixed price. Address: 55 Main St. | Phone: 631-498-6188 Click to eat
