Finnegan's is joining the fun and thrilled to announce a new partnership with Food Done It and the Edible Mystery Tours. The new hit self-guided culinary tour is a three to five-hour experience with a mystery storyline. The tour and mystery are guided by a web-app accessed on a smart phone and is designed for groups of three to eight people.

Once registered, participants will receive a designated start time and location/restaurant on the date of their choice. At the first restaurant and starting point, participants receive a chef-featured small plate and information about the "crime" and characters involved. Together, the group will "interrogate suspects," answer trivia and solve puzzles, all on the app, to unlock directions to the next restaurant, a short walk away, that holds another clue. At the end of the adventure, each group will have solved the "crime" over a five-course meal. Cost is $60 per person and reservations should be made online at www.fooddoneit.com.
